NEW PLAN
FOR SEATING IN YALE BOWL

New Haven, Jan. 20.—The discontent that was expressed by many Yale students over the seats allotted to them on the bowl at the Yale-Harvard game last November has resulted in a plan that is being put up to the alumni for endorsement. The dissatisfaction arose principally from those who received seats on the ends or on the curves available seats between the goal lines on each side of the bowl. Last year there were 3,200 subscribers to the bowl fund entitled to first choice in the allocation of seats. The university applications, including members of the faculty and undergraduates, numbered 10,000 which left only approximately 5,000 seats for the alumni applicants of 2,500. Between the goal lines. As a result most of these were seated on the ends or on the curves.

A plan to seat the alumni by classes, with the older classes having first choice, has met with strong opposition. Inasmuch as that would mean that the younger alumni would have to take poor seats year after year. It is now proposed to seat the alumni by classes, but to draw lots each year as to where these classes shall seat. Those in favor of this insist that if it was rigidly worked out and adhered to everyone would have to take his chance at an end seat instead of some unfortunate being obliged to sit there year after year.

PLAYERS WHO JUMPED
IN WAR OF 1901-1902

Following is a list of the players who deserted the National League during the baseball war of 1901-02 between the old organization and the American League. Ben Johnson was then making a powerful and effective fight against the National League. New York, 1901.—Pink Hawley, Frank Sports, Vagel Garcia and Joe Connors to Milwaukee; Willie Mercer, Mike Grady and William Garvey to Washington; Cy Seymour to Baltimore; Kid Gleason to Detroit; nine, 1902.—George Davis and Sam Strang to Chicago; Jack Warner and Charley Hickman to Boston; Al Bradley to Baltimore; Dummy Taylor to Cleveland; six.

Philadelphia, 1901.—Chio Fraser, Nap Lajoie, Wiley Platt, William Bernard and Joe Dolan to Athletics; Joe Sullivan to Chicago; four, 1902.—Ed Delahanty, Harry Wolverton, Al Orth and John Townsend to Washington; Monte Cross, Elmer Flock and William J. Duglesby to Philadelphia; Frank Caddy Donahue and Bill Douglas to St. Louis; Ed McFarland and Doc White to Chicago;—11.

Boston, 1901.—Chio Stahl, Jimmy Collins, John Freeman and E. M. Lewis to Boston; Bill Dwyer to Milwaukee; Bill Clarke to Washington; Bill Sullivan to Chicago; Joe Lewis to Philadelphia; eight, 1902.—Bill Dwyer to Boston; Herman Long to New York; Eugene McDermott to Washington; three.

Brooklyn, 1901.—Lave Cross, Dave Potts, Morris Steinfeld, to Philadelphia; Joe McGinnity and Harry Howell to Baltimore; Ed Wright to Cleveland; Tom Daly to Chicago; Wild Bill Donovan, Jim Macuire and Frank Kison to Detroit; Billy Keeler to New York; Charley Farrell to Boston; Hughes to St. Louis; E. Newton to Los Angeles; Charles Irvin to San Francisco;—14.

Chicago, 1901.—Clark Grunth, Jim Callahan, Sam Merkes and Roy Patterson to Chicago; Bill Dwyer and John McCarthy to Cleveland; six, 1902.—Dave Jones, Barry McCormack to St. Louis; Fred Hartzell, Babe Waddell to Philadelphia; Danny Green to Chicago; Tom Hughes to Baltimore;—15.

It must seem rather inglorious to the Grand High Muck-a-Muckers of the Eastern League, after being installed with golden regalia and bowing attendants, to open up the office next morning at 7 o'clock, put on a dirty apron, and proceed to sweep up the floor.

The people who condemn the sending of money to Belgium may not be so anxious to help but some charities are to buy a 1915 automobile.

RIBBONS TOO CLEVER FOR STAMFORD BOYS

(By Wagner.)

"What's that, your coming out again?" yelled a fan at O'Connell last night as George Smith's jersey was ripped from his back. The Stamford center blushing from the heat of the crowd, stood this time with his upper half hidden from public view. This was only one of the incidents of the game which the Blue Ribbons won from Stamford by 18 to 32.

The game was more exciting than the score indicates for the players went at each other hammer and tongs. There were several timeouts which kept the crowd excited. Stamford played desperately but was no match for the Ribbons in the fine points of the game. The local boys developed a passing system and their shooting had become exceptionally good. Capt. Beckman and Jimmy Clinton displayed their wares by piling up 24 points. Clinton got six goals and Beckman four but the latter threw forward the whole blue. Roach aroused the enthusiasm of the multitude in the first half by several long shots which whirled gracefully into the netting.

Stamford was changed from center in order that he might play against Smith. He covered the Stamford giant well and also got four goals himself. Swenson's guarding was superb and the light haired boy ruined the curtains for three goals besides. In the second half Capt. Beckman retired in order to give young Reich a chance the boy celebrating his entry by casting a goal. The Stamford boys held the Ribbons pretty well in the first half and the fans were yelling continually. The score was 18 to 13 in favor of the local boys at the whistle blow. But in the final stanza Manager Leary's boys got going and soon had a comfortable lead. The series now stands three to nothing in the Ribbons' favor. The line up:

WHITTED AGREES ON SALARY TERMS WITH BOSTON TEAM

Boston, Jan. 20.—George Whitted, who was one of the few members of the world's champions to hold off from coming to terms with the Braves' management, has finally signed his willingness to get in line. It was announced yesterday by President Gaffney, over the long distance phone from New York, that Whitted had accepted terms. A contract was mailed to him from the Boston office.

Just what the terms of the contract are and what bearing they have on any possible transfer of Whitted to the Phillies, was not divulged.

PRINCETON BEATS
PENN BASKETBALL
FIVE IN OVERTIME

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 20.—In a game replete with thrills Princeton defeated Pennsylvania in basketball here last night by 24 to 22. The game was exceptionally fast throughout, but was marred by many fouls. Princeton was a better team than the visitors in the first half.

Twice the score was tied, and as the second half drew to a close Princeton had a bare two-point lead. Just before time called, Princeton outplayed the ball on a beautiful shot and the score was tied.

In the extra period of ten minutes the play was faster than ever. Williamson got the only Red and Blue score, while Princeton made sure of the game when McTigue got the prettiest goal from the field of the evening and Paulson shot two clean goals.

ANNIVERSARY OF RING BATTLES

1894.—Joe Chynski knocked Jim Hall in 13th round at Masport, N. Y. This was the final important ring appearance of Hall, the great Australian middleweight. Like so many other famous boxers, Hall failed to provide for his future when the providing was good, and his latter years were spent in poverty. He died about two years ago in Wisconsin, and his friends who had looked after him in his last days, buried his body at New York. Hall was a native of Sydney, and was about 40 when he began boxing. He fought his way to the middleweight championship by his victims including Bob Fitzsimmons, although this bout was probably a fake. Jim landed in San Francisco in 1891, and in 1893 was defeated and fought Chynski for the middleweight title. They fought in New Orleans and Bob won by a knockout in the fourth round. Hall then went to England, but later returned and fought Chynski.

1877.—Billy (Kid) Parker, Scotch welterweight boxer, born in Boston.

1893.—Tommy West and Dan Murphy fought 20-round draw at Millwaukee.

1895.—Arrelio Herrera and Maurice Sayers fought six-round draw at Milwaukee.

GALLANT AND ROBIDEAU TO MEET HERE FEBRUARY 15
Springfield Accuses Gene McCann of Trying to Get Cheap Franchise

(By Wagner.)

It is reported that Gilbert Gallant and Sammy Robideau have been matched to appear in this city again. If the boys meet here it will be on February 15. Gallant was naturally chagrined at the abrupt ending of Monday's bout. Before he left town he declared he felt confident that he could beat Robideau if he had another chance.

Robideau has made friends here because of his good showing against Shugrue. He was disappointed at the side of the house last Monday. He had expected a bigger piece of coin for his share of the receipts as he had been led to believe a record breaking crowd would be on hand.

The New Haven baseball club has decided to get rid of first baseman Moore Miller and young southerner named Schumaker has been captured for the job. He played in a Class D league last season.

It fell to the Springfield Union to spring the worst case of the winter league. The Union solemnly affirms that President O'Rourke tried to set an option on a park in Springfield to which the club in putting a club in Springfield. What good would a park in Springfield do McCann? He couldn't put a club there as long as Carey holds the franchise. O'Rourke tried to get the park to prevent the outlawing from selling it and thereby making trouble for Carey. He was working in the Springfield owner's interest and all he got was abuse.

Loach Cross worked his old trick in a bout in Brooklyn last night. He was boxing Harry Pierce and in the second round Cross made a bluff he was in distress. Pierce was fooled and rushed wildly to knock him out. Then Cross straightened and

KING COLE
ASKS ABOUT
YANKEE JOB

New York, Jan. 20.—King Cole, the unsigned Yankee pitcher has been heard from. Manager Wild Bill Donovan got a letter from King yesterday in which he inquired as to the status of the Yankees and if so, Cole wants to know when and where he should report for spring practice. Cole is spending the winter at Brawley, Cal., and has the distinction of being the only pitcher in captivity who has not been approached by the Federal League. Cole was with the Yankees last season, but that was about all. His turn to pitch was usually limited with a sore finger or a swollen toe.

Cole wished the new manager all kinds of good luck, but Wild Bill says what he wants is all kinds of good pitching. Donahue was made an inquiry about the training camp because that matter has not been decided yet.

The camp will very likely be at Columbus or Savannah, Ga. At the end of the week Donovan and Scout Joe Kelley will go south to look over both places.

SCHAEFER ONLY
DEMANDED $6,000
FOR BEING FUNNY

Chicago, Jan. 20.—President Gilmore of the Reds told an interesting story of the efforts made by President Charley Weegman of the Cubs a few days ago to sign Prince Herman Schaefer, the former comedian-utility man of the Washington Nationals, who recently drew his release from Manager Griffith.

Schaefer called on Weegman and was asked how much he wanted.

"A two-year contract calling for $6,000 a season."

"Why, that's a lot of money. You are a comedian and a good book," Weegman told the comedian.

"I'll admit that, Charley, but you know I'm awfully funny."

ACORN SMOKER TO BE HELD TOMORROW
LOOKS PROMISING

The fifth monthly smoker given by the A. C. will be held in their spacious gymnasium on Kosuth street to-morrow night. Matchmaker Slim Brennan has fixed up a card which consists of five bouts between some of the coming shrubbing lights on the pugilistic stage. Each bout will constitute four rounds and all told will give the fans twenty rounds of boxing.

The star bout of the evening will be between Young Bosse who has lately come back into his own and Arty Handy, the boy with the wicked left. The rest of the card is Young Harry vs. Kid Brophy; Young Snyder vs. Young Mickey, from the Collar and Elbow factory; Red Watson vs. Young Dundee; Young Hoppe vs. Young McNamara.

Slim Brennan from "Noo Yawk," will hand out the save between the rounds and Mike O'Connor will swat the bell at the end of each round. Jim Hawley, who was once with Reno and will never go again, will be the third man in the ring.

Besides the bouts an entertainment will be furnished the fans. Singers from the various cabarets will be on hand and Mike Broderick, he of "Casey On a Bar" fame, will please with a monologue. A special feature of the entertainment will be the appearance of John McDonough, of the sweet voice. McDonough was the feature of the last entertainment and it was only after a great deal of landed on Piers so heavily that the latter was down. He arose at the count of five and managed to stall through the round. Cross won the bout on points.

More trouble for the Navy. Dan Bob Zupke, the Illinois coach, will assist Coach Houghton in drilling the Harvard football candidates in spritz practice. Zupke's team won the western championship. He is said to be pondering devising plays for the open game.

Harry Wolter may be brought back from the Pacific Coast to the New York Americans. He batted .320 for Los Angeles last season and showed that his bad leg no longer troubled him. Wolter was hurt in 1912 and was let out during Chance's reign as Yankee manager.

Enoch Somers, a veteran minor league manager, says that in the old days of the Ohio State league he ran out of tobacco, while on the train and traded an outfielder for a pack of fine cut. Either the outfielder or the outfielder must have been pretty bad.

Jack Reimer, the former New Haven pitcher, has been sent to San Francisco by Detroit. Jack belongs to a walking club in New York and his experience may come in handy if he gets the gate from the San Francisco manager.

It is said that Jack Coombs' job with the Brooklyn Nationals will be to coach the young pitchers. The team is expected to be in the Athletics' youngsters last season.

effort that Slim again secured his services. The first bout will go on at 8:30 o'clock and between the bouts the vocal entertainers will have full swing.

SEASIDES TAKE
BILLIARD GAMES
FROM ALGONQUINS

The Seaside billiard player took two matches from the Algonquins in the inter-club tournament last night, much to the surprise of the Indians. The matches were played at the Seaside club and a big crowd of members of the three clubs in the league watched the cue wielders.

Thad Adams, the Seaside expert, won from Dr. Hawley of the Algonquins by 200 to 110. It was expected that Dr. H. might win, but he was better but his first appearance in a local tournament may have unnerved him.

F. C. Willbrand of the Seaside cleaned up Dean of the Algonquins by 200 to 187 in the closest match of the evening. Willbrand missed easy shots but was better than Dean at the end of the match.

The only victory for the Algonquins was won by Arthur Eaton, who vanquished Leslie Vaughan by 200 to 184. Eaton started poorly but was strong at the end.

Next Friday night the Bridgeport and Seaside pool teams will play at the Bridgeport quarters. The billiard standing:

GRAND DUKE NIKOLAS.

At the feast of the Freebrathenaki Regiment in St. Petersburg, shortly after the Russian-Japanese War, Sir Ian Hamilton was wheeled in the great world arrive, one after another. He himself was present as a distinguished British General. Both individually and collectively the Russian General was a fine sight. He was suddenly ejaculated, "By Jove who's that?" He pointed to a towering figure, at least six feet four in height, with close-cropped black hair shot through with gray, short pointed Vandike beard; keen eyes; extraordinary length of limb, but lean and graceful, with exceptional ease and power of movement—a magnificent figure of a man. It was the Grand Duke Nikolas Nikolaievitch.

The Grand Duke, now commander-in-chief of the armies of Russia, was born the year after the Crimean War and was 58 last October. But he still radiates an impression of easy power and strength. His grandfather was the son of that Czar Nikolas I, whose physique was famous in Europe. When a mob gathered in the Sadovaya in those early days, a story is still current of how the great Czar drove to the scene, got out of his carriage and stride out alone, gigantic and threatening, and with a single mighty roar produced a stunned silence through which he lectured the huddled crowd like a stern but just father and sent them away, tamed. His great-grandson inherits much of his physical power. Although the military career of the Grand Duke Nikolas has attracted little attention here, it is Russia, largely because he has concentrated wholeheartedly on each phase as he met it, his present supreme command is nevertheless the logical result of a consistent rise through all ranks, not because, but almost in spite of his imperial blood. Unless the state legislatures satisfy the popular demands by increasing the appropriations and reducing the taxes, they can't possibly satisfy the intelligent American electorate.

BASKETBALL TITLE MIGHT COME TO YALE

New Haven, Jan. 20.—Not in many years has the interest in basketball been as great at Yale University as it is the case this winter and the cause is not hard to seek as the university is represented this year by one of the strongest fives ever turned out here and the prospects of its taking the championship title are just now very bright.

This line-up of the Yale team which has been used in two championship games played up to date, and which seems to be the probable regular lineup for the rest of the season, is as follows:

E. J. Stackpole, '15, (Capt.), forward; O. A. Kinney, '15, forward; S. K. Smith, '15, center; C. P. Tarr, '15, guard; W. Arnold, '15, guard; J. H. Tarr, '15, guard. This combination is a new one; but even at this early date the men are working very well together; every game so far showing a steady improvement. Captain Stackpole and his playing the most valuable men to the five. Stackpole is an excellent shot, covers a lot of ground, does more than his share of the floor work, and is a splendid leader for the team.

Tarr is also a new man, but he has been a bulwark of strength on defense so far this season. On account of Arnold's being such a good shot, Tarr has been covering the back court entirely and stopping two men as they come down the floor. With a little more experience, he should develop into one of the best guards in the league.

Tarr is a son of former President Tarr. Bobby Stow, the Bridgeport ball player, is coaching the team.
